A Fact.
In the future through the sky,
Surely man will fly,
By and by, by and by,
That's a fact and not a fable.
Like birds in the air,
By and by, with our dear,
And why should not man be able.

But to start the ride,
Air is, for a heavy weight,
Very light, very light,
And George would surely fall,
Therefore at the ten cent store,
He almost stays for evermore,
And tends to every call.

THE SILVER BILL.

A Washington correspondent of the Omaha Bee, writing under date of March 18th, says: "The consideration of the silver bill is almost completed by the House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures. During the week it is the intention of the chairman to have a special meeting, when final action will be taken. There will probably be two or three amendments made to the bill, but they are of minor importance. The Windom bill originally provided for the coinage of $4,500,000 per month, and gave the Secretary of the Treasury discretionary power to suspend coinage whenever he deemed it advisable for the interests of the Government. The bill, as it will be reported to the House, probably on next Monday, will provide for practically unlimited free coinage. It will not contain the section giving the Secretary power to suspend the purchase of bullion, but will provide that whenever, and as long as 37 1/2 grains of pure silver are worth $1 in the open market the United States Mints of the country shall be open to free and unlimited coinage. Senators Jones and Stewart of Nevada, Taylor of Colorado, and other advocates of free coinage in the upper branch of Congress, and Mr. Carter of Montana, who is the representative silver man of the House, say this measure will be entirely satisfactory to the silver interests. He believes that there is very little if any doubt of the ultimate adoption of the measure by both houses of Congress within two or three months. To-day your correspondent asked Mr. Lacey, the Comptroller of the Currency, when he expected legislation upon the subject of national bank circulation, and he replied: 'Not till after the Windom silver bill is disposed of and the necessities of action relating to the distressed condition of national banking are known. As soon as the Windom bill is adopted, and I am confident it will be adopted, the men who hesitate in voting for legislation on national banks will, I think, no longer hesitate the act. There is a delicacy upon the part of men representing agricultural districts to vote for national bank legislation before they vote for something intended to give a larger volume of currency which will not be circulated through the banks. I do not think that there is any doubt that the bill giving banks 10 per cent more circulation upon their bonds deposited and reducing to $1,000 for each bank the amount of circulation which must be issued, will be passed within ninety days, but of course in saying this I anticipate the final adoption of the free coinage bill before that date.'"

THE FRYE BILL.

President Adams States His Views Before the House Committee.

President Adams of the Union Pacific appeared before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads last Monday morning and submitted to the committee printed reports of the arguments previously made by him. He then discussed the Frye bill, which he said placed the Union Pacific road and Central Pacific road on very different relations to the Government. As a matter of principle, the Union Pacific could make no objection to that course being pursued. The Central Pacific never had and never would have the local trade which the Union Pacific possessed. The question was whether the burden should be proportionate to the strength of the two companies. He did not object to the general provisions of the Frye bill, nor insist that the Union Pacific should be placed on equal terms with the Central Pacific; neither would he say that the terms imposed on the Central Pacific were too lenient. On the contrary he was obliged to say that the provisions of the bill imposed as heavy a loss as the Central Pacific could bear. He did not think the Union Pacific would be willing to take the property of the Central Pacific with a heavier load than the Frye bill imposed upon it. The Frye bill was a good and fair bill in many respects, but there were a few material points in which he would like to see it modified.

Mr. Adams thought the burden which the Frye bill imposed on the Union Pacific was too heavy. The railroads are operated not for fun or patriotism, but to make money. There was a legitimate and an illegitimate way of doing this. It was not to the interest of the Government or the people that the company should be launched on a voyage of fifty years, weighted down so that those who navigated it must spend half their time clinging to the rigging. He felt compelled to say that, in his judgment, the Senate bill in its present form was not for the advantage of the Government, the Union Pacific or the people. The farmers had fallen to the error of imposing upon a willing debtor terms more onerous than the debtor could bear.

Adams said the Frye bill was in the interest of the States through which the Union Pacific passed, although the people of those States didn't see it. They had an idea that anything which helped the railroad injured them. This was an erroneous idea. The company, in its desire to get liberty, was forced to the very limit of safety and at times he had hesitated whether it was worth the company's while to accept the provisions of the bill.

The Democrats Claiming the Pension Honors—Congress Still Wrestling With the Tariff.

McAuliffe-Carroll Glove Contest.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The pugilistic contest between Jack McAuliffe and Jimmie Carroll took place at the California Athletic Club to-night. The purse offered by the club amounted to $3,000, of which $500 was to go to the loser. In addition to this each principal had posted $5,000 on the fight, making a total sum which would fall into the hands of the winner of $12,500. Carroll selected Martin Murphy and Florrie Barrett, and McAuliffe announced that Billy Madden and Jack Dempsey would be in his corner. Hiram Cook was selected referee. Owing to rumors about yesterday that the contest was not to be genuine, President Folda last night informed Carroll and McAuliffe that if at any time during the contest there was evidence of "faking," the fight would be stopped and the men thrown out of the ring.

Previous to the contest an effort was made to pass a resolution instructing the Board of Directors to arrange a match between Joe McAuliffe and Peter Jackson, but the club decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Directors. It was nearly nine o'clock when the contestants, accompanied by their seconds, appeared in the ring. McAuliffe was the first to step over the ropes. Both pugilists were received with enthusiasm. The weights were announced as follows: McAuliffe 134 1/2, Carroll 135 1/2.

Time was called at 9.10 p. m. First round—McAuliffe opened with a rush, but Carroll escaped by dodging. McAuliffe reached Carroll's neck several times with his right before the round closed.

Second round—Carroll opened by a rush, and jabbed McAuliffe's jaw several times. McAuliffe returned a hot right hand blow in Carroll's ribs and followed it up with a swing on his neck. Carroll countered with a hard left on Mac's jaw.

Third round—Mac led out with his left catching Carroll under the chin. He repeated this before Carroll had recovered from the first shock and a clinch followed. Carroll then tried hard to catch his opponent on a hard swing, but McAuliffe dodged.

Fourth round—McAuliffe reached Carroll's ear with his right and then gave him a vicious upper-cut with his left. McAuliffe made half a dozen terrific langes, all of which Carroll escaped, until just before the round closed, when he received a sharp rap in the ribs.

Fifth round—McAuliffe aimed for Carroll's jaw, but received a hard jab on the mouth, which sent him down on his knees. He rose at once and several rallies followed.

Sixth round—McAuliffe again caught Carroll on the jaw with a hard right-hand. McAuliffe continued to play for his opponent's wind, and reached there several times with marvelous rapidity.

Seventh round—McAuliffe continued the same tactics and landed two more hard blows on Carroll's body.

Eighth round—There was little done till near the close when there was a sharp rally in which the latter received considerable pounding.

Ninth round—In this round, in which Carroll brought a little blood from McAuliffe's forehead, McAuliffe again rushed the fighting.

Tenth round—McAuliffe landed on Carroll's ribs several times, though the blows were not hard. McAuliffe had a narrow escape from a swinging right-hander, which just grazed his ear.

Eleventh round—McAuliffe opened the round with a hard left-hander on Carroll's stomach, but received in return a terrific jab in the mouth.

Twelfth round—This was the shortest round so far. There was a hot rally, followed by a clinch in which the men fell heavily to the floor. McAuliffe on top. Carroll rose and some terrific jolting at close quarters followed, but both men were very groggy. Carroll scored a clear knock-down by landing on Mac's jaw.

In the 13th round both men fought hard for a knockout, though very tired. McAuliffe did most of the rushing. Just before the round closed Carroll gave him a blow on the jaw which almost sent him to the floor. Carroll seemed to be fresher when the men came up for the 14th round. There was little done.

Fifteenth—McAuliffe again found Carroll's wind hard. Just before the round closed Carroll forced matters and caught McAuliffe heavily in the wind and again on the jaw. The latter saved himself from further punishment by clinching.

Little done in the 16th.

The seventeenth opened with the honors about even. Both men were evidently very tired. The men clinched in the eighteenth and as they broke away Carroll upper cut McAuliffe viciously and then gave him several right and left-handers which staggered him perceptibly.

In the nineteenth but little damage was done until just at the close when Mac reached Carroll's ribs three times and each time received a sharp counter in the neck which staggered him.

In the twentieth Mac resumed the punching operation on Carroll's body, with but little effect, however. Carroll feigned several times but made little effort to lead.

In the twenty-eighth round there was some sharp fighting at close quarters, in which McAuliffe had the advantage. He pounded Carroll about the neck and body, until the latter staggered under the blows.

In the next two rounds there was some more heavy hitting with very little advantage to either man.

Up to the twenty-second round Carroll appeared to be getting a trifle the best of his opponent, but in this round he staggered from a right hander received on his cheek.

The next few rounds were generally in McAuliffe's favor, and at the close of the thirty-sixth round the men, while not strong, were both in fair condition, and there seemed to be every prospect that the fight would last some time longer.

McAuliffe recovered a little in the forty-first round, but in the forty-second Carroll gave him an ugly upper-cut and then planted several more hard ones on his nose and face causing blood to flow freely and making McAuliffe stagger.

In the forty-third round McAuliffe was plainly getting weaker and a number more blows on his jaw from Carroll's fist did not improve his condition.

Carroll was knocked out in the forty-seventh round.

Discussing the Pension Bills.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Bynum, Catchen, Spicola, Breckenridge, Grosvenor and others participated in the debate on the pension bills, the Democratic members taking the ground that it was due to the actions of that party that the pension roll had been increased, but that the Republican party had appropriated the credit to itself. Grosvenor said the minority had become wonderfully patriotic, and if it could only destroy the unpatriotic record it had always made it would be wonderfully benefited. Cleveland, who had buried his veto in the faces of old soldiers, was the most popular Democrat in the United States, and three years hence would drag the Democratic party at his car wheels. After further debate the committee rose and the bill was passed. The bill also passed appropriating $25,000 to enable the Secretary of War to purchase tents for the use of the people driven from their homes by the floods in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The House took a recess until the evening session before the consideration of the private pension bills.

What is Being Said and Done in the Senate.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Senator Vest argued in the Senate to-day against the constitutionality of the original trust bill as well as of the substitute declaring the belief that the Supreme Court would immediately throw it out of court. Blair renewed his motion to reconsider the vote yesterday by which the educational bill was rejected and Ingalls moved to lay that motion on the table. No action was taken. Allison replied to Vest's argument as to the connection between high duties and trusts, taking the ground that all great combinations were practically outside of the tariff and independent of it. It was the duty of Congress to put on the statute books such legislation as would inhibit trusts and combinations.

A Reception to General Alger.

Special to the Journal.

ATLANTON, Ga., March 21.—The old soldiers of Concordia, Cloud county, expect a visit March 24 h from General Russell A. Alger, Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R. of the United States, on which occasion there will be a camp fire in honor of the distinguished visitor. It is proposed to make the event one of unusual splendor. Invitations have been extended to the old soldiers of prominence of Atchinson and other cities of the State, and an effort will be made to secure special rates on the railroads.

Bishop Escher Found Guilty.

Special to the Journal.

READING, March 21.—The committee of Ministers investigating Bishop J. J. Escher, of Chicago, this afternoon found him guilty on all charges of falsehood, slander and reviling old difficulties for the purpose of creating dissensions in the church. They recommended that he be suspended until the meeting of the General Conference in 1891. Bishops Dubs, of Cleveland, and Bowman, of Allentown, have already been deposed.

Blocked U. S. Mail.

Special to the Journal.

PORTLAND, March 21.—It is stated that about 7,000 pounds of U. S. mail are now lying at the break on the Southern Pacific, in Cow Creek Canyon, with no means of transportation. The parties who had the contract for carrying the mail across the break have given it up and all teamsters demand two cents per pound for carrying it.

General Crook's Funeral.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, March 21.—In accordance with the wishes of Mrs. Crook the funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon. The remains will then be put on a special car and leave for Oakland, Md., in the afternoon. General Crook's staff officers and a small guard of regular soldiers will attend.

THWARTED BY A WOMAN.

AN AMERICAN LADY SPOILS THE PLANS OF BISMARCK.

It Was the Result of a Scheme Concocted by the Daughter of a Former New York Grocer.

Playing for Big Stakes.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 21.—That there is a serious breach between Bismarck and Emperor William has by this time become quite certain, and the causes are being searched for most seriously and the results watched by all students of current politics with the greatest attention. In conversation with a gentleman whose name is known quite widely throughout the United States, having once been a member of the United States legation at Berlin, and who recently returned from Germany, a correspondent last evening learned a story as to the real cause of the rupture which is now current in Europe, and is of special interest to the people of the United States because the trouble is credited to an American woman. Several years ago one of the most prominent of New York wholesale grocers was James Lee, who retired after amassing a considerable fortune, and spent the latter years of his life in Europe. His daughter, a beautiful and fascinating woman, met an Austrian nobleman and after a brief courtship they were married. She was of a most ambitious nature and hoped to reach a high place through the use of her own money, her husband's title and position. She became popular at court and was succeeding in her plans when her husband died.

She met while at the Austrian court a distinguished looking and noble German, Count Walderssee, who made her his wife and took her to his home in Berlin. Walderssee's plans suited her, and although he is much older than she they have worked harmoniously together. Under the old Emperor Walderssee was advanced from post to post, and filling each with honor, he was marked by a great number of people as among the most likely of all the Emperor's favorites. He cultivated the attentions of the then coming Emperor Frederick and like a true courtier did not overlook the boy on whom some day might rest the crown. It was long ago known to Berlinites that Walderssee's ambition stopped at nothing short of succeeding to the high office on which Bismarck was supposed to have a certain life tenure.

The Countess Walderssee, she who was the New York grocer's daughter, was none less diplomatic in her efforts. She formed a strong friendship for the younger prince, now the Emperor, and took good care to prepare the way against the day when the power would rest in this young man's hands.

That day has unexpectedly come and the fruits of her friendship are becoming manifest. It is evident that Bismarck is looking to the day when he will be no longer able to handle the great and manifold affairs of State on which he has so firm a grasp since the formation of the empire. It has long been plain that he should be succeeded in the weightiest of these duties by his son Herbert, who, now that he has given up most of his youthful follies, is developing into a man of strength and power, manifesting many of those remarkable traits which has made his father so great. This purpose of the elder Bismarck runs counter to Count Walderssee's ambition and is especially distasteful to the Countess.

Several years ago when the whole European continent was raging with the wild escapades of Herbert Bismarck, he made an enemy for life of the Countess Walderssee by a sustained attack upon one of the Countess' most intimate friends, a young married woman whom Count Herbert declared he would have for his mistress, despite all her protestations and the existing marriage, at which, of course, the young Count laughed. In her extremity the young woman made a confidante of the Countess Walderssee, who succeeded in forcing young Bismarck to desist only after informing his father. Count Herbert's brutality in this matter, and his utter disregard for the feelings of any one, made such an impression on the Countess that she has since refused to have anything to do with him than was made absolutely necessary by the official position which he held. The wily American woman has been able to instill something of this feeling of dislike into the mind of the Emperor, though, of course, the conduct of the young Count in this particular matter is not the basis for that feeling.

When, therefore, it became evident that the elder Bismarck wished his son to take a higher place in the Empire than he had done, it satisfied the revenge and the ambition as well of the Countess Walderssee to thwart the elder Bismarck by preventing young Bismarck from coming to the front. She paid off the old score and promoted the interest of her husband. The young Emperor, by refusing Bismarck's requests in this matter, took the first steps in the separation, which was made wider by his labor programme, against which Bismarck protested in vain, and Walderssee is credited with being the real author of this programme.

"Whether this story is true as to the real reason for the Countess Walderssee's attempt to overthrow the Bismarcks, I cannot say," said the gentleman interviewed, "but this thing is certain—that the woman now most influential with the German Emperor is the former grocer's daughter, and this influence was long ago recognized by the people within court circles at Berlin. Her ambition will not be gratified till she has her husband in the highest place in the Empire and she herself the most potent woman at the court. And it is not unlikely that before long she will have succeeded."

In Favor of Mexican Reciprocity.

Special to the Journal.

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—One of the best-known general passenger agents of the country, who went to the City of Mexico recently to attend the annual convention of the General Passenger Agents Association, writes concerning that country to the General Manager of his road. Mexico, he says, is a wonderful country—wonderful in people, in climate, in resources and possibilities. The United States pays out $100,000,000 annually for products which Mexico could furnish and take in exchange the products of American factories and enterprises. He believes that a measure of reciprocity would within five years develop a Mexican commerce of $100,000,000 annually.

American Agriculture.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The prevailing depression in American agriculture is treated by Statistician Dodge in the March report of the Department of Agriculture. The prevalence of low prices is noted and a feeling of discouragement in rural circles throughout the world is indicated. But it is less severe here than in other countries. The main cause of low prices is referred to as the inexorable law of supply and demand. Corn and wheat and other staples are cheap because of over-production, due to immigration, which has increased the population 6,000,000 in ten years, and opening millions of acres to cultivation.

A Chinaman Burned to Death.

Special to the Journal.

PORTLAND, Or., March 21.—A Chinese laundry on the outskirts of the city was destroyed by fire early this morning. Wo Doy an employee was burned to death. Ah Woon is also probably fatally burned. Woon went to his assistance and was himself overcome by the smoke, but was dragged out, not before he had received serious injuries, however. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

Minority Report.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Representative Springer, with the balance of the Minority of the House Committee on Territories, have united in a report in opposition to the bill reported by the majority, providing for the admission of Wyoming as a State.

Demurrer Overruled.

Special to the Journal.

RAO BUZZ, March 21.—Judge Braynard overruled the demurrer to-day in the case of Cornwall against Foster, the great Bully Coop mining suit, and the case is set for Monday, the 24th. A million dollars are involved in the case, which will probably take two weeks to try.

Threatened With Another Flood.

Special to the Journal.

JOHNSTOWN, March 21.—A serious flood threatens the lower portions of the city. To-night the street at the stone bridge is covered to a depth of several feet. People living in the lower part of town are moving out.

The master laundrymen of New York and New Jersey have decided that their Chinese competitors must go and have raised a large amount of money to establish laundry offices wherever Chinese wash-houses are found. The contest will be watched with interest from this direction.

Statistics of imports and exports for the first seven months of the fiscal year show a handsome balance of trade in favor of the country. The value of exports over imports amounts to ninety-two million dollars, and the total for the fiscal year indicates an increase over the preceding year of about one hundred and thirty millions.

Congressman Barlow thinks the Windom bill, with its amendments, will be acceptable to the coast people. The objection in the East to free coinage is strong, and concessions are absolutely necessary. He thinks the cause of silver has made a most substantial advance.

BREVITIES.

Beautiful weather.
U. S. Marshal Moore was in town yesterday.

N. J. Foxwell was down from Verdi yesterday.

W. J. Hanks came in from Elko yesterday morning.

Prepare for a good laugh on Wednesday evening next.

Judge Boardman returned from the Bay yesterday morning.

Hon. Archie McDonnell, of Virginia, is said to be a pronounced candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor.

There will be a glove contest in Potliff's new hall to-night between "Shorty" Kincaid, of Carson, and Frank Keller, of Reno.

Jas. A. Kennedy, of Carson, intends to build two handsome cottages this Spring on his lots in Powning's Addition. He owns 75 feet front south of W. D. Phillips'.

Traffic on the Mt. Shasta route will be resumed March 24th. Central Pacific agents are authorized to accept freight for points north of Glendale, Oregon, to and including Portland and beyond.

"A Hole in the Ground," Hoyt's latest comedy success, will be produced at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next. There will be pretty girls, sparkling music and fun for all. No extra charge for reserved seats. Secure them at once.

Decline in Comstock Real Estate.

The owner of a lot on the east side of North O street, north of Sutton avenue, in Virginia City, who was offered $5,000 for it after the fire in 1875, said to a Chronicle reporter yesterday morning that he could not sell it now for enough to pay the cost of repairing the sidewalk on the O street front.

Immediately after the fire of 1875 $27,000 was refused for the vacant lot now occupied by Cooper's hall, then known as Cooper's hay yard. Vacant lots in many parts of town can now be purchased for one-fifth of the price paid for them in 1875 and 1876.

Suites of furnished rooms that rented for $75 and $125 a month in those years now rent for from $10 to $15 per month.

In 1876 when the California Mining Company required more surface ground for a waste dump at the O. & C. shaft, the company offered the proprietors of the Nevada brewery $20,000 for that property, which was refused.

During 1884 and 1885 the price of local real estate reached the lowest ebb. After the ore discovery in the Con. Cal. & Va. mine in 1886 there was a marked appreciation in its value and lots in eligible locations now command fair prices and many neat cottage houses have been erected and a number more will be before the close of the present year.

A White Pine Tragedy.

The Virginia Chronicle, of last evening, says Mike McCall was accidentally shot and killed on the Cherry Creek road, White Pine county, last week. He was found on the road dead from hemorrhage caused by a wound in the left leg below the knee. McCall was on route for Ely in a wagon and held a shotgun in his arms. It is supposed that the gun was accidentally discharged and the charge wounding McCall he fell from the vehicle.

A Good Showing.

The Virginia Chronicle says the fact that out of the entire tax levy of 1889 on Storey county real estate only $140 remains delinquent, is evidence that there is no abatement in the faith of property owners in a prosperous future for the Comstock. The above is the best showing ever made in the collection of the annual tax in this county, the amount usually collected falling from $500 to $1,500 below the sum of the total levy.

C. &amp; C. R. Tunnel Cave.

A cave is reported in the 300-foot tunnel of the Carson & Colorado railroad at the summit near the White mountains, says the Virginia Chronicle. About 70 feet of the tunnel has caved in, owing to a landslide, and it will take about ten days to clear it out. There will be no interruption to travel, as there will be trains on either side of the break.

Big Sale of Thoroughbreds.

Posters are being circulated advertising choice thoroughbred horses and cattle to be auctioned by Mr. John P. Sweeney on April 15, 16 and 17. Mares, colts and fillies by the following well known sires will be sold regardless of the price they bring: Gibraltar, Echo, Prompter, Norfolk, Lodi, Blue Bull and numerous others.

The Lesson Advocate says:

The storage of water is as yet in its early infancy in this county, very little having been attempted by organized capital until late last Fall, yet in a few months up to the time that work had to be suspended owing to the winter storms about $35,000 in cash was expended and distributed in our county, most of it in our immediate vicinity, and all of it, we may say, outside money, which would never have found its way in here but for the building of reservoirs, dams and ditches.

It has just put so much more money in circulation among us during the past winter, and must have had a good effect upon our finances. It is safe to estimate, with the present outlook, that four times the above amount will be distributed here during the coming season in enterprises of a similar character, and should the Eagle lake scheme be started up, this estimate may be safely doubled.

DINNER TALK.

Two Live Issues—The Tariff Question and Silver Coinage.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—There was a rather remarkable dinner at the White House Monday night. The President invited Senators Dawes, Aldrich, Allison, Hitchcock, Morrill and Jones, of the Senate, and Messrs. McKinley, Burrows, Cannon, Conger and Bingham, of the House, to dine with him informally, it being understood that matters of public policy were to be discussed during the evening. The dinner was served in the private dining room. After the dinner was over the President introduced the subject of the tariff, and asked how the Committee on Ways and Means were getting along with its bill.

Mr. McKinley explained the situation while all of the gentlemen around the table, understanding the significance of the question, gave him their attention. The President then asked Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Allison what prospects the bill would have in the Senate when it reached that body. They told him that they would be able to pass it in good order, provided it conformed to the policy represented by the bill reported and passed by them at the last session.

The President then expressed himself very warmly upon the subject of the tariff, explaining that in his opinion the interest of the country demanded that there should be a reduction of the revenue, particularly on articles of food and the necessities of life. There was a good deal of feeling expressed, particularly in the Northwest, against maintaining a tariff that had been imposed during the war. The Republican party was pledged to reduce the revenue and duties had better be cut down, even if the Government was compelled to economize in order to make both ends meet.

When the silver question was taken up, and the President asked Mr. Conger, Chairman of the House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, what the prospect was in the House for that kind of legislation.

Mr. Conger thought that it was entirely probable that the Windom bill would pass very much as it had been decided upon by the committee, but when the President asked Mr. Aldrich what prospects the bill would have in the Senate he was informed that the Committee on Finance had already reported a substitute which differed materially from the measure which Mr. Windom had already prepared, and that they would insist upon its passage and agree to no other, whereupon Mr. Jones, of Nevada, spoke quite freely, and explained to the President the character of the Senate bill. The most remarkable thing about it, he said, was that it had been unanimously agreed to by the Senate Committee on Finance, and was the only financial measure that had ever been endorsed to such an extent by that committee. Any measure, he said, was remarkable that could secure the approval of Mr. Morrill and himself, but the Windom bill was not so popular.

The President did not engage in a controversy, but intimated rather strongly that in his opinion, the Windom bill covered the case about as well as any that could be devised, and he was particularly anxious for some sort of a measure.

THE COMING ATTRACTION.

"A Hole in the Ground"—A Banquet of Choice Theatrical Enjoyment.

The next attraction at the Opera House will be Charles H. Hoyt's highly amusing comedy, new here, but all the rage in the East, "A Hole in the Ground." The New York Dramatic News makes the following critical mention of it: Charles H. Hoyt's familiar farce, "A Hole in the Ground," was put on at the Bijou Theater last night for a stay of a fortnight. This piece is well known to that part of the public which finds diversion in Mr. Hoyt's whimsicalities. The house was pleased and applauded freely. To amuse full houses is the measure of the compiler's ambition. The company was competent to put in active movement the oddities of the farce. Miss Kate Hart is possessed of agility as astonishing as her skirts are scant. She gave so complete and exhaustive an exhibition of gymnastic dancing that only flashing somersaults seemed lacking to fill out the extensive circle of her gyrations. A deliciously fascinating little creature is Miss Alice Evans, who took the part of a telegraph girl. She has a face and form as neatly turned as the lovely image of a nymph on a perfect antique gem. The other characters in the programme are numerous, varied and funny enough to constitute this one of the most thoroughly enjoyable entertainments placed before any audience here or anywhere else.

PLOWING FROZEN SNOW.

The New Rotary Makes a Successful Attempt at Cascano.

The Sacramento Record-Union of the 20th says Superintendent J. D. Wright, of the Sacramento division, arrived last evening from the scene of the late blockade on the line of the Central Pacific. A party of railroad officials, consisting of Colonel Charles F. Crocker, Vice President of the Southern Pacific Company; General Superintendent Fillmore; A. D. Wilder, Superintendent of the Northern Division from San Jose to San Francisco; George Crocker and a few other gentlemen, left this city on Tuesday evening for the Sierras to see the operations of the new rotary plow and the cyclone. Mr. Wright joined the party at Cascano cut, as did also Master Mechanic Small and Division Master Mechanic Helgman.

On yesterday the party witnessed the new rotary plow make an attack upon a bank of snow which had not been removed from a side-track during the winter, and which was frozen almost as hard as a rock. The new plow handled the snow splendidly, the only hindrance being that the bank was seven feet too high to be plowed rapidly. Several hundred feet were plowed out before the party departed to see the cyclone work at the other end of the cut. The cyclone's exhibition was not as successful as that of the rotary, owing to the fact that there was not enough available power to push the plow into the bank.

WHAT ON AIRTH

If the reason people will not, can not or do not use any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and when I did eat I was distressed, or, as I would say, I was heart-burn. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

250 Beautiful Lots For Sale!

A RARE CHANCE FOR AN INVESTMENT AND A HOME

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

Facing the Truckee—The Aristocratic Avenue—Riverside Driveway—Splendid Sewerage—Healthy Location and Safe From Fire.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before Buying Elsewhere Parties will do Well to Look at These Lots.
